Sumner on Stevens

[illegible]

What Charles Sumner said of Thaddeus Stevens in the ... was uncommonly well said even for Sumner and it will be read with general interest and approval.

The visitor as he paces the corridor leading to the House of Commons stops with reverence before the marble statues of the ... which illustrate two centuries of English history ... famous chamber. There are ... each speaking to the memory as he spoke in life, beginning with the learned Selden and the patriot Hampden with Falkland ... Somers as great as the ... of constitutional liberty and ... Fox always ... wealth of English literature Edmund Burke.

In the lapse of time as our history extends similar monuments may illustrate the approach to our House of Representatives arresting the reverence of the visitor. If our group is confined to those whose fame has been won in the House alone it will be small for members of the House are mostly birds of passage only perching on their way to another place. Few remain so as to become identified with the House or their service there is forgotten in the blaze of other service elsewhere as was the case with Madison Marshall Clay Webster and Lincoln. It is not difficult to see who will find a place in this small company. There must be a statue of Josiah Quincy whose series of eloquent speeches is the most complete of our history before Webster pleaded for Greece and also a statue of Joshua R Giddings whose faithful championship of freedom throughout a long and terrible conflict make him one of the names of our country. And there must be a statue of Thaddeus Stevens who was perhaps the most remarkable character identified with the House unless we except John Quincy Adams but the fame of the latter is not that of a representative alone for he was already illustrious from various service before entered the House.

All of these hated slavery and labored for its overthrow. On this account they were a mark for obloquy and were generally in a minority. A really compensation has begun. As the cause which they upheld so bravely is exalted so is their fame. By the side of their far sighted far reaching and heroic efforts, how diminutive is all that was done by others at the time! How vile the spirit that raged against them!

Stevens was a child of New England as were Quincy and Adams, but, after completing his education he found a home in Pennsylvania which has already given birth to Giddings. If this great central State can claim one of these remarkable men by adoption only it may claim the others by paternity. Their names are among its best glories.

Two things Stevens did for his adopted State by which he repaid largely all her hospitality and favor. He taught her to cherish education for the people and he taught her respect for human rights. The latter lesson was slower learned than the former. In the prime of life, when his faculties were in their highest vigor he became conspicuous for earnest effort, crowned by a most persuasive speech whose echoes have not yet died away, for those common schools which more even than railroads are the hand maid of civilization besides being the true support of republican government. His powerful word turned the scale and a great cause was won. This same powerful word was given promptly and without hesitation to that other cause suffering then from constant and most cruel outrage. Here he stood always like a pillar. Suffice it to say that he was one of the earliest abolitionists, accepting the name and bearing the reproach. Not a child in Pennsylvania conning a spelling book beneath the humble rafters of a village school, who does not owe him gratitude, not a citizen rejoicing in that security which is found only in liberal institutions, founded on the equal rights of all who is not his debtor.

When he entered Congress it was as a champion. His conclusions were already matured and he saw his duty plain before him. The English poet foreshadows him when he pictures—

> One in whom persuasion and belief
> Had ripened into faith and faith become
> A passionate conviction

Slavery was wrong and he would not tolerate it. Slave masters, brimming with slavery, were imperious and lawless. From him they learned to see themselves as others saw them. Strong in the cause and in the consciousness of power he did not shrink from any encounter, and when it was joined he used not only argument and history but all those other weapons by which a bad cause is exposed to scorn and contempt. Nobody said more in fewer words or gave to language a sharper bite. Speech was with him at times a cat o nine tails and wo to the victim on whom the terrible lash descended.

Does any one doubt the justifiableness of such debate? Sarcasm, satire, ridicule are not given in vain. They have an office to perform in the economies of life. They are faculties to be employed prudently in support of truth and justice. A good cause is helped if its enemies are driven back and it cannot be doubted that the supporters of wrong and the procrastinators shrank often before the weapons he wielded. Soft words turn away wrath but there is a time for strong words as for soft words. Did not the Saviour seize the thongs with which to drive the money-changers from the temple. Our money changers long ago planted themselves within our temple. Was it not right to lash them away? Such an exercise of power in a generous cause must not be confounded with that personality of debate which has its origin in nothing higher than irritability, jealousy or spite. In this sense Thaddeus Stevens was never personal. No mean thought controlled him. What he said was for his country and mankind.

As the rebellion assumed its gigantic proportions he saw clearly that it could be smitten only through slavery and when after a bloody struggle it was too tardily vanquished he saw clearly that there could be no true peace except by founding the new governments on the equal rights of all. And this policy he urged with a lofty dogmatism which was as beneficent as uncompromising. The rebels had burned his property in Pennsylvania and there were weaklings who attributed his conduct to the smart of his loss. How little they understood his nature! Injury provokes, it sometimes excuses resentment. But it was not in him to allow a private grief to influence his public conduct. The losses of the iron master were forgotten in the duties of the statesman. He asked nothing for himself. He did not ask his own rights except as the rights of man.

I know not if he could be called an orator. Perhaps like Fox he were better called a debater. And yet I doubt if words were ever delivered with more effect than when broken with years and ... he stood before the Senate and in the name of the House of Representatives and of all the people of the United States impeached Andrew Johnson President of the United States of high crimes and misdemeanors in office. Who can forget his steady ... utterance of that great argument. The words were few but they will endure through the ages. The ... of ... in his position at that moment was merged in the historic grandeur of the occasion. For a long time against opposition of all kinds against misconceptions of the law and against apologies for transactions without apology he had insisted on impeachment and now the old man tottering to your door dragged the Chief Magistrate of your Republic to judgment. It was he who did this thing and I should do poor justice to his memory if on this occasion I failed to express my gratitude for this heroic deed. His merit is none the less because other influences prevailed in the end. His example will remain forever.

In the House which was the scene of his triumphs I never heard him but once but I cannot forget the noble eloquence of that brief speech. I was there by accident just as he rose. He did not speak more than ten minutes but every sentence seemed an oration. With unhesitating ... he arraigned Pennsylvania for her denial of equal rights to an oppressed race and rising with the theme declared that this State had not a Republican government. I presume the speech will be found in the Globe. Nobody who has considered with any care what constitutes a republican government especially since the definition supplied by our Declaration of Independence can doubt that he was right. His words will live as the testimony of great character on this important question.

The last object of his life was the establishment of equal rights throughout the whole country by the ... of the requirement of the Declaration of Independence. I have before me ... in which he records his convictions ... perhaps more weighty because the result of consideration when age had furnished experience and tempered the judgment. He says he ... long and with such ability as I could command reflected upon the subject of the Declaration of Independence and finally have come to the sincere opinion that universal suffrage was one of the inalienable rights intended to be embraced in that instrument. It is difficult to see how there can be hesitation on this point when the great title deed expressly says that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. But this is not the only instance in which he was unstrained by habits of ... that ... successful ... A great ... of France has said ... If Stevens ... reached this conclusion slowly it was because he had not completely emancipated himself from that technical reasoning, which is the boast of the lawyer rather than the statesman. The pretension that the power to determine the "qualifications" of voters embraced the power to exclude for color and that this same power to exclude for color was included in the "... power" of the States to make "regulations" for the elective franchise seems at first to have deceived him as if it was not insulting to the reason and shocking to the moral sense to suppose that any unalterable physical condition such as color of hair, eyes or skin could be a "qualification," and as if it was not equally offensive to suppose that under a power to determine "qualifications" or to make "regulations," a race could be disfranchised. Of course this pretension is a technicality set up against human rights. Nothing can be plainer than that a technicality may be employed in favor of human rights but never against them. Stevens came to this conclusion at last, and rested on it firmly. It was his final aspiration to see it prevail. He had seen much for which he had striven to see embodied in the institutions of his country. He had seen slavery abolished. He had seen the freedman lifted to equality of political rights by acts of Congress; he had seen the colored race throughout the whole land lifted to equality of civil rights by act of Congress. It only remained that he should see them throughout the whole land lifted to the same equality in political rights and then the promises of the Declaration of Independence would be fulfilled. But he was called away before this final triumph. A great writer of antiquity, a perpetual authority, tells us that "the chief duty of friends is not to honor the departed by idle grief but to remember their purposes and to carry out their mandates." These are the words of Tacitus. I venture to add that we shall best honor him whom we now celebrate if we adopt his aspiration and strive for its fulfillment.

It is as a defender of human rights that Thaddeus Stevens deserves our homage. Here he is supreme. On other questions he erred. On the finances his errors were signal. But history will forget these and other failings as it bends with reverence before these exalted labors by which humanity has been advanced. Already he takes his place among illustrious names, which are the common property of mankind. I see him now as I have so often seen him during life. His venerable form moves slowly and with uncertain steps but the gathered strength of years is in his countenance and the light of victory on his path. Politician, calculator, time server, stand aside! A hero-statesman passes to his reward.

MR GREELEY ON THE WHITE HOUSE ITCH.—The next minister to England made a pleasant little speech to his Montreal entertainers the other day, and moved by an allusion of the mayor's to Daniel Webster he spoke thus of him and of the presidential ... so prevalent among our public men:—

Mr Webster was not only a great man, but he had the elements of moral greatness, but he had faults as well. He failed only in one respect and in this respect I differ from him —he wanted to be President and I don't. [Cheers and laughter.] But for that one misfortune he would have been the greatest man America ever produced. We have seen our greatest man Mr Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early and died of it at a very old age. [Laughter.] Gen Lewis Cass died at about 82 and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who once catches the disease; he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the very best of our public men and I have carefully avoided it. It was easy then to speak for truth and justice when they need an advocate, when those who threatened could execute no vengeance that you dreaded. So then I think you are happy in that respect if in no other, for none of you in Canada expect to become the sovereign of your country. [Cheers and laughter.] That enables you to have a purer press and more fearless public men than perhaps you would otherwise have. We at least in our day have a President elect who did not try to be President. He was elected mainly on that account. [Laughter.] We have others who tried to get it by declining but that wouldn't do. [Renewed laughter.] Let a public man honestly go forward, saying what he believes to be just, doing what he thinks is right and though he may not probably be President he can enjoy a very large measure of freedom of opinion as well as freedom of action [hear hear] though freedom of opinion is the very last thing that a free people is disposed to concede to its public men.

The gossips of Washington are in a flutter of astonishment that Gen Grant should not observe the time honored custom of paying his respects to the President as Commander in Chief on New Year's Day but go to Philadelphia with Mrs Grant for a quiet day there. The gossips are also amazed that Gen Grant's children do not propose to attend the children's party at the White House to morrow night, and they wonder if the unpleasant correspondence of last February can have anything to do with it. Perhaps it has but whether it has or not the gossips will have their hands full from now to the fourth of March. On inauguration day it is the time honored custom for the incoming President to ride to the Capitol with the out going President. If the present condition of affairs continues what will the gossips do with Gen Grant then?—Washington Letter Dec ...

Gen Grant

[illegible] STATEMENTS RESPECTING HIS VIEWS—A SOCIAL CHAT

Correspondence Syracuse Journal]
WASHINGTON D C, Dec 24, 1868

It is quite evident that General Grant's silence is not the result of obtuseness or want of ideas. Since his return to Washington he has not been remarkable for reticence. On the contrary, he seems to have taken every proper occasion to express his opinions on current topics.

Just before Congress met he announced himself as desiring to see passed an amendment to the Constitution making a uniform rule of suffrage. He also reiterated his favorable opinion of the Wade amendment, limiting a President to only one term.

Perhaps the most outspoken things he has said were spoken yesterday at interviews had with several Congressmen. Among them was Senator Chandler of Michigan. In the course of conversation the Senator urged the claims of certain Pacific Railroad schemes presenting of course, the plausible argument that the development of the country, etc would more than warrant the ... General Grant in the most emphatic manner ... against all ... of the kind. The first duty of the Government, he said, was to ... for payment of the national debt. ... to do this, the most rigid economy and ... were necessary in all public expenditures. Subsidies to railroad schemes, unless shown to be absolutely necessary for the completion of important ..., must be opposed.

The Senator of course was not convinced, and reiterated his own views. Mentioning that he was going home, (as was understood, to look after his re-election,) then Grant remarked jocularly, but ..., that he hoped he would stay, having in view that he could be spared. He could be spared if his views continued as ...

At another interview with ... of the House General Grant took occasion to urge the absolute necessity of a session of the Forty first Congress, to begin on the 4th of March next. He said that legislation was greatly behind the real needs of the country, and that, further, his administration would require the presence of Congress to aid in the adoption of measures that might be found absolutely necessary for the pacification of the country.

This ends without doubt all attempts to repeal the act by which each Congress is required to meet on the 4th of March though it is understood the House Judiciary Committee agree to report a bill for that purpose.

EXPENSES OF SEAMEN.—American seamen who are left destitute in foreign ports, are sent back to the United States at the public expense by the Consuls. During the last fiscal year, 924 were thus returned at a cost of $12 138. Of these, 136 were sent back from Honolulu at a cost of $1,675. The United States Consuls also disbursed during the year $19,227 for the relief of destitute discharged seamen in foreign ports, over the amount of wages collected for them, and also $1 501 for criminal seamen.

In Cambridge, Massachusetts, the police arrest all children found in the street during school hours, unless they can give a good excuse for their absence. An Irish boy recently told an officer that he had been excused to attend a funeral. He was found very soon afterwards at a base ball match. The officer inquired why he was not at the funeral. The reply was that he had been down to the house, meaning its resident, "but the man wasn't dead yet."

Notes on Alaska

A [illegible] Whymper who has [illegible] that [illegible] of which we find in [illegible] New York paper. Most of our [illegible] what familiar with Sitka [illegible] published during the [illegible] years. This traveler says: "The [illegible] of the town is [illegible] with its picturesque [illegible] iron roofs painted [illegible] the bright green spire and [illegible] of the Greek Church and the old battered [illegible] used as magazines [illegible] the water's edge, with the antiquated buildings of the Russian Fur Company give Sitka an original foreign and fossilized kind of appearance. There have sometimes been furs of the value of $1,000,000 gold accumulated in the town for it was the headquarters of the Russian American Company and although it had but a small Indian trade of its own was the central depot of no less than twenty one different stations." The account which the author gives of the meteorological peculiarities of the region are not at all encouraging. He tells us that "it enjoys the unenviable position of being about the most rainy place in the world. Rain ceases only when there is a good prospect of snow. Warm, [illegible] weather is invariably accompanied by the prevalence of fever and pulmonary complaints, and rheumatism is looked upon as an invariable accompaniment to a residence in the settlement. The fact that the place is more unhealthy in fine weather than in rainy is attributed to the miasma which then arises from decaying vegetable matter." The agricultural resources of the country are not highly spoken of. The culture of a few potatoes and other vegetables is all that has been done in this way, and there is not an acre of grain in the whole country. While the Russians owned the Territory the white half-breed population of Sitka numbered about 800, but since the American occupation it has risen to about 2,000 persons. At Sitka the price of furs was found nearly as high as at San Francisco but those who may venture into the Northern part of the Territory will undoubtedly be rewarded for their pains and all risks that they run with remunerative bargains. Despite all these disadvantages, however, Mr Whymper arrives at the conclusion that Russian America is not likely to [illegible] a bad bargain to our Government. The extreme Northern part of the Territory may to be sure prove nearly valueless, but in the central section furs are abundant, and the trade in them, which will of course be further developed, must fall into our hands. The southern parts are of course identical with the neighboring British territory, and will probably be found as rich in mineral wealth, while the timber, although of an inferior growth, owing to the higher latitude, will yet prove by no means worthless. The fisheries may become of great value. There are extensive cod banks off the Aleutian Isles and on many parts of the coast. Then, too, the salmon fisheries which are very extensive and fruitful, are sure to be made a source of great profit as the fish can be procured in great quantities simply at the expense of native labor. Mr Whymper tells of a merchant in Petropaulovski who cleared $6,000 in a single season by salting down salmon and shipping them to Europe. Not the least important part of the purchase, however, is the chain of Aleutian Isles which have some commercial importance in themselves, and are valuable as yielding the furs of amphibious animals to a large amount.

ANOTHER BRANCH MINT.—A joint resolution has been introduced in the Montana Legislature, [illegible] Congress to establish a Branch Mint in that Territory. The Helena Herald has an article on the subject, in which some very [illegible] and practical advice is given. "While we like to see the Legislature turn its attention to the wants of the Territory we would like to see that body confine itself to feasible measures. A memorial to Congress for a Branch Mint we consider useless. That body at this time would not pay any attention to it, further than to receive and consign it to a co[illegible] room. As being a better plan, we would recommend the Legislature to establish an Assay Office, such an one as is now flourishing in Colorado, where it has from the first sustained itself without expense to the Territory. If we would progress we must help [illegible]. Let the Legislature do this and [illegible] memorialize Congress for aid to the institution. This is a practicable undertaking, and one which if carried out would benefit the Territory far more than the acts of preceding Legislatures."

PERFECT ILLUSTRATION.—Perhaps the distinguishing characteristics of "Democracy" were never better illustrated than in the following extract from the Portland Commercial. The reckless assertion, the gross ignorance and the downright folly which distinguish those whom the Democratic party has accepted as its oracles all appear in the annexed paragraph:

"The mask is gone because the honest laborer's vote is no longer needed. The Republican party have achieved a victory. Always opposed to the Republican form of Government they are now in a position to crush not only our Republican Government but to crush out the spirit of resistance. The Grand Army of the Republic will now be brought into requisition and Grant regularly installed Dictator or Emperor of America. The nation will be divided into Departments, and Military Governors appointed for each department. State governments abolished and no more Presidents elected. And now they turn on their dupes and tell them that as events have proven the impossibility of elevating the inferior races to the exalted position of the Caucasian it now becomes the Caucasian to come down to the level of the inferior races and that the capitalist has a right to get labor at as low rates as he can."

CLEAR ENOUGH.—We think the [illegible] will soon be convinced that it is impossible for a person to be a bed rock Democrat unless he holds rebel principles and is a repudiator. The Courier notes the fact that the Herald is in favor of repudiation and says "Shame on such a dishonorable proposition." The Herald retorts by saying that the editor of the [illegible] is [illegible]. This is coming to the point. We think there is not much probability that any one can be in doubt much longer as to what it requires to constitute Democracy.

GREAT BRIDGE.—The New York Times of the 20th December says: "The recent subscription by the city of Brooklyn of $3,000,000 to aid in the construction of a bridge to unite Brooklyn with this city is an important local event. The obligation to pay this sum is subject to the condition that such additional subscriptions shall be made by other parties as will lead to the execution of the design. The assurance is therefore encouraging that a bridge uniting the two cities will within a reasonable period be constructed."

The Coming Administration

Much is expected in the way of economy and retrenchment from Gen. Grant's Administration. The state of public feeling at the East on this matter seems to be well delineated by the subjoined remarks from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican:

The news is that Gen Grant has expressed himself openly and fearlessly in favor of laying an interdict on every scheme which proposes to take money from the public treasury; that he earnestly protests against every job of every name, and appeals to all good Republicans and to the Republican press to do the same. No one has as yet more fully yet so comprehensively expressed the true principle which should control the public policy in regard to money grants at the present time. He declares that he will sanction no appropriation or measure which shall increase the debt so long as there is a powerful party in the country which seeks to repudiate it. No better reason could be given for decisively rejecting in the present state of the finances and the country each and every one of the schemes which are menacing the treasury; not because these roads, particularly the Southern Pacific, are not well enough in themselves, not because it may not sometime become the interest and duty of the nation to contribute to their aid—but because every increase of the debt now strengthens the party of dishonor, embarrasses our credit at home and abroad and is a virtual step towards repudiation. Until we can see light through our financial difficulties and certainly while the party of dishonor disputes the control of our House of Representatives not one dollar should be added to the already gigantic total of our debt. Let that be a test of orthodoxy and let the man who urges a departure from it be known as no true friend to the country or the Administration.

A COMPREHENSIVE PETITION.—A petition was recently presented in the United States Senate by citizens of Vermont which attracts a good deal of attention. It asks eight things of Congress. First—to pass the Jenckes civil service bill; second—to complete and pass a new tax bill with reduction wherever possible; third—to reduce the expenses of all the departments; fourth—to put the Indian affairs under the war department and stop frauds; fifth—stop the sale of Indian lands to large speculators; sixth—grant no more bonds to railroads; seventh—stop useless appropriations for custom houses and hospitals; eighth—legislate for the speedy resumption of specie payments. It is believed that these eight points will be supported by General Grant.

GREEN PEAS IN JANUARY.—Port Madison (W T) is situated near the 48th degree of north latitude. The wonderful mildness of the winters on this coast is evidenced by the fact that a few days ago stalks on which were blossoms and also pods containing peas were obtained from the garden of Mr John Farnham of Port Madison. They had grown in the open air. The Seattle Intelligencer asks "Can we offer a better proof of the mildness of our winters than the above?"

PORK.—The Cincinnati Gazette says it used to be considered in that city that a barrel of flour and a 100 pounds of pork should bring about the same money. Now the price of 100 pounds of pork, $12, will buy two barrels of flour. The Gazette estimates that the "pork crop" of the five great western States will put $60,000,000 in circulation.

RE-ELECTED.—Hon. Wm M Stewart has been re-elected United States Senator from Nevada. The Nevadans have done a sensible thing in keeping this faithful and efficient Senator in the place he has filled so acceptably ever since their State was admitted into the Union.

The National Debt—How to Pay It.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The following novel suggestion proposed by a writer in the Montana Post as to a speedy way to cancel the Government debt, looks feasible to the writer of this, and so fully meets his approval that it is submitted to your readers and the public for their consideration. As to my earnestness in this regard I will pay $10 out of my slender means, and I have a wife and four children for each of which I will pledge, in addition, one dollar, making, in all, $15. This would set at naught all the schemes of repudiation and dishonor, and would relieve the people at once of the heavy burthen.

"Editors Post—I have an idea by which the national debt might be 'subjugated,' or liquidated during the term of office of the incoming Administration, and it is this: Let every man, woman and child in the nation, so disposed, contribute, according to their means, a greenback (from five cents up), form in procession on the 4th day of July, march to a bonfire and burn them up. The press could print numbers corresponding to the amounts burned. They could be deposited in a box and passed over to the Government. Ascertaining the amount destroyed, the Government could then issue new notes in the place of those destroyed, and the new issue could go towards paying the old debt, thereby preventing any shock in money circles. I think four years would wipe out the debt and place us in good circumstances as a nation."

One good feature of the above plan is that it would do away with the immense salaries of internal revenue assessors and collectors, which, at present, under the old style of management is a very heavy drain upon the amounts paid into the Treasury. This plan, too, would place the Government on the highway of prosperity and increase its [illegible] in a very short period, and would not fail to be hailed as one of the greatest blessings to the country throughout the whole civilized world. Such are the estimates of a well wisher.

Letter from Oregon City

OREGON CITY, Jan 18th 1869

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Among the many other schemes for the development of the inert resources of the Wallamet Valley is one which hitherto owing to the reticence of its managers, has remained unpublished to the world. I refer to the building of locks next summer by the People's Transportation Company on the east side, or Oregon City side of the river, which I am informed by the President of that Company are to be commenced in March and to be carried on to their successful completion. This Company have not followed the usual custom of tooting their own horn in matters of improvement heretofore accomplished where the interests of themselves as well as the public have been subserved, but have rather let those works speak for themselves, as they propose to do in the future. Any one of ordinary sense visiting Oregon City can see them, and indeed there are but few in Oregon who do not appreciate them. The impression has gone abroad that owing to a legislative appropriation of aid for locks on the west side of the river, granted to three wealthy incorporators, Oregon City property would deteriorate in value; but this proposed action of the Peoples Transportation Co dissipates all such fears and the future of our city is brighter than ever.

It is the opinion of all law and order men in our city that your view of the labor question is entirely correct and your article of to-day was vividly described by one of them as — knocking your opponents down, smashing in their ribs, kicking in their teeth, lifting them up, shaking them awhile and then knocking them down again — and I think the editors of the two contemporary papers of Portland will have you up before the Recorder, as the valiant and doughty Bariah of "feeble frame" and memory once arraigned the agent of St Nicholas in your city. If this happens we beseech you O Ridley to deal gently with our erring brother who in defending the cause of Humanity thus misused the inhumane.

The meeting of the Ku Klux Klan planned for Saturday evening did not come off owing to a scarcity of attending members and was adjourned until Tuesday evening. Article four provides for [illegible] the commission. In such event the [illegible] shall [illegible] an umpire. [illegible] President of the United States shall act for the United States, but the umpire selected shall not be qualified unless confirmed by the Senate. Article five provides in the event of the refusal of the umpire to decide that the question shall be settled by [illegible] presence of their commissioners. Article six excludes from the jurisdiction of the commission all cases arising from claims which have been adjudicated by the courts of Admiralty. Article seven provides that the claimants shall prove that they are British subjects, and that they preserved strict neutrality during the war and did not aid the South. Article eight provides that the sessions of the commission shall be held at Washington.

United States Senators

ALBANY (N Y), Jan 17.—The Republican legislative caucus last night nominated [illegible] Fenton for United States Senator on the second ballot, Fenton receiving fifty two votes to Morgan's forty.

AUGUSTA (Me) Jan 17.—The Senators and Representatives from Kennebec (Morrill's county) who voted for Morrill in the Senatorial contest publish a card saying that Hamlin having received [illegible] of the 149 votes they regard his nomination as valid and will vote for him. Senator Morrill arrived Sunday night, accompanied by Senator Sprague.

CHICAGO Jan 17.—The Nebraska legislative caucus on Friday night resulted in no choice of Senator, but [illegible] received the highest vote.

Case of Smuggling

NEW YORK Jan 17.—The firm owning the silks recently seized for an attempt to evade the duties has offered ten thousand dollars to have it restored. The Secretary of the Treasury has the matter under investigation.

The Crops of 1868.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The Agricultural Department publishes its estimates of corn and cotton crops of the past year. In corn there has been an increase of 137,000,000 bushels over last year. This does not include the Pacific States. Local reports from cotton sections have been favorable, especially in the Southwest, where the result in comparison with the average of the planters is better than in any preceding year since the adoption of free labor. The estimates give a total product of 2,350,000 bales. This is believed to be below the actual yield.

Assassins to be Pardoned.

WASHINGTON Jan 17.—A special says the President will soon grant pardon to Dr Mudd.

West Indies

NEW YORK Jan 15.—Advices from Nuevitas state that the insurgents have concentrated a force of 10,000 men for an assault on Puerto Principe. The Spanish force numbers 1,500. Commissioners have sent out a messenger to propose a compromise.

The Herald's Port au Prince dispatch of the 26th states that the American consul at Aux Cayes had been severely beaten by the local authorities. Hollister, our minister at Port au Prince is investigating the matter.

The American minister Gregg made a speech strongly favoring the annexation of Cuba to the United States while at a party at Jacmel. The proposition was loudly applauded. There were three Spanish spies present.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

MADRID Jan 17.—The government candidates have carried the elections in the larger cities and a great number of the provincial towns. It is stated that Gen Prim and his colleagues are in favor of accepting the candidate of the Duke de Montpensier.

PARIS, Jan 17.—Another session of Conference was held yesterday to enable the members to sign the declaration of their opinions.

The Debats asks Greece in the interest of European peace to suppress the bands and vessels intended for incursions into the neighboring States of the Ottoman empire, and counsels Turkey to withdraw her ultimatum. The Turkish Minister agreed to the main points in the settlement proposed by the Conference, but awaits instructions. The Grecian Minister informed the French Minister of Foreign Affairs that instructions from Athens were delayed by interruption of the telegraph. The Conference is on the point of closing its session. It advises Greece to accept so much of the Turkish ultimatum as regards Cretan affairs and refers the case of the Syrous affair to the decision of the courts. It promises that Turkey shall withdraw the last point of her ultimatum.

The latest advices from Athens state that preparations for war are actually going on. The banks of Athens loaned the Government twenty million dollars for war purposes.

LONDON Jan 17.—Dispatches from the east report that a difficulty had arisen between Turkey and Persia. A disturbance had broken out on the eastern portion of Asiatic Turkey which led to a withdrawal of the Turkish Ambassador from Teheran. Since that Persia has been massing troops on the northwestern frontier.

MADRID, Jan 17.—Additional returns from the provinces increase the overwhelming majorities of the government candidates elected.

NEW YORK Jan 17.—A letter from Warsaw says that cases of arms of every description are daily passing through that city on their way to the Danubian provinces. In most cases they are followed by wagon loads of munitions to be distributed among the Greeks and Christian population of the Turkish empire.

A ministerial order from St. Petersburg has obliged the owners of real estate who have been already driven from Poland and compelled on that account to sell their land at a low price to leave their new place of settlement and emigrate westward on the borders of the Vistula.

FROM THE NORTH

VICTORIA Jan 18.—The total shipments of gold from British Columbia through the banks of this city for 1868, were $1,760,58[illegible]—a falling off of about $[illegible] compared to the yield of 1867. The decrease is altogether owing to the severe drought experienced throughout the Upper Columbia during the past year.

"This is 100 per cent or thereabouts more deaths than occurred during the same period last year. The number of deaths by small pox in December was [illegible] per cent greater than in November. It is safe to say that 50 per cent of the mortality from small pox might have been avoided had vaccination been strictly enforced and made general throughout the city. How many lives might have been spared had the city been kept decently clean before an epidemic was engendered no one can tell, but it is manifest that as matters are now managed we are paying a fearful price for the carelessness, neglect and indifference to the general welfare which prevails."

STARR KING'S READY WIT.—A good many years ago in some place where John P. Hale was a practicing lawyer, after a lecture by Wendell Phillips, Hale said, "Now let us have an anti-slavery talk." So they had it. The succeeding lecture was to be by Starr King. When the time had arrived, the person who presided arose to introduce King. He began by saying: "The remarks made by Phillips at the last meeting were not made at my request." Thereupon all the anti-slavery people hissed. "Not but what I liked what he said," continued the speaker. Then all the pro-slavery sympathizers hissed. And the perplexed individual sat down without having introduced the lecturer. King then arose and quietly said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am to lecture on the Laws of Disorder, and it seems to me about time to begin."

A FIZZLE.—We are informed that the Ku Kluxes at Oregon City, attempted to hold another anti Chinese meeting last Saturday evening and that C. I. D. W. being in the city was invited to attend and make a speech but there being enough ... present the meeting was not held, nor was anything else fired off. The little squad of anti-Chinamen, not finding their efforts to frighten the men of the Woolen Mills into terms sufficiently seconded by the people, quietly went off home. It is understood that they will try it again this evening. It is not yet known when they will begin the killing business. We saw Mr Howell in this city yesterday looking like anything else but a bloody-minded man, and we learn that he openly laughs at the Ku Kluxes and their threatening letters. The threats of assassination contained in the letters we published the other day are justly condemned by every right thinking person in the community and the writers stand in greater danger of being hung than do the managers of the mill of being assassinated. The thing rather overdid the business when they began to threaten men with death and that gun has already kicked the owner over. We doubt if any respectable meeting of the same nature as that of a week ago can be convened again in Oregon City.

ST. HELENS.—A gentleman from St. Helens informs us that affairs in that place appear to be in a prosperous condition. The mill company at the first of the year held a meeting at which the following officers were elected: Directors J M Ritchey Jas Dart J. L. Ladd W. A. Ladd and D Lynch. President—J L Ladd Secretary—Geo A Ladd Treasurer J L Ladd, Superintendent—Daniel Lynch. Agent at Portland, J M Ritchey. An agent will be appointed at San Francisco. The mill is now being run on three fourth time, turning out 15,000 feet of lumber per day. In a few weeks it will be run full time. The company propose to erect a large warehouse on the river this season to keep their lumber in. They have in readiness a lot of lumber for the San Francisco market for the first vessel. The Pacific Hotel is soon to be re-opened. ... is attended to. The Good Templars are in a prosperous condition and the Gem—the organ of the Order—is a spicy paper especially on conundrums. The Salt Works turn out about 800 lbs per day of pure white salt. Loggers are engaged on Lewis river and the Slough, getting ready for the summer trade.

... DENIED.—It will be remembered that after the attempted assassination of Charles Duche, the sheriff of this city made a vigorous search for the guilty parties. Two or three men were arrested. Officer Saunders went to Salem at his own expense after one whom he believed to have been implicated in the attempt. The man was afterward discharged, and upon presentation the County Commissioner entered a refusal to pay Mr. Saunders' bill of expenses. If officers are to go pay unless the man arrested shall be convicted there can be no reasonable expectation that they will put themselves to much trouble or expense to ferret out crime. All police officers should be paid reasonable compensation for such services, even though their efforts prove fruitless, otherwise efficiency can not be looked for.

THE THEATER.—There was a very fair audience at the theater last night to witness the performance of East Lynne for the fourth and last time. To night the great modern sensation play of "The Streets of New York," will be produced for the first time in Portland. When brought out in New York, this piece had a great run being performed nightly to immense houses for several weeks. It had a similar run in almost every city of the United States, not failing in a single instance to meet with the public approbation and to secure the most unequivocal success. It illustrates the poverty and suffering of the poor during the two great financial revulsions of 1837 and 1857, how the rich lived and how the poor suffered. It is a play of the most thrilling interest and should not be missed by any theater-goer.

PUGET SOUND.—About a dozen workmen are at work on the steamer Wilson G Hunt, preparing her to go to Puget Sound. We learn authoritatively, that she will go round some time during February and will immediately go on the trade between Victoria and Olympia, as an independent steamer. She goes to ... as she will still belong to the O S N Co we can ... that she will stay. There is not on the Sound a better steamer than the Hunt. She is not only of good speed, but she is in every way fitted up in an only comfortable but elegant style. The traveling public on Puget Sound will hardly fail to be pleased with her, as next to the New World she is the most commodious steamer running upon our Northern waters.

THE KOOTENAI.—A gentleman of this city who has business connections with the Kootenai mining region has just received letters containing information of an encouraging character, concerning the mining prospects of the coming season. The permanence and value of the mines are become so well established as to induce many of the pack trains which have hitherto been running to the Blackfoot country. There will be in the spring at least seven trains withdrawn from the Blackfoot trade and placed on the road from Walla Walla to Kootenai. It is confidently expected that the yield of gold and the general prosperity of the Kootenai country during the coming season, will be far greater than of any previous year.

... BLOOM.—Talk about climate. Here we are in latitude forty five and a half, in the middle of January ... a day of the winter, thus far, until yesterday when frost has lain upon the ground, all day, in the shade. There are several gardens in town, in which roses have been all the time, and are now, in bloom. Full blown roses may be seen in the gardens of Mr. Van Rensselaer, R. D. White and, doubtless, in other places. Flowers of four or six inches in height may be seen in all places. The most tender house plants ... have thus far been left out upon verandas without the least danger of damage by frost. We doubt if any country of the same Northern latitude can boast of such a climate of mildness.

... We find in the hotel register at the Cosmopolitan the name of John Nestor booked for the trip, via Boise to Chicago, and Charles Woodward, "overland to ..." Both these gentlemen, with Mr. Eugene Semple, left yesterday morning for the States via Boise City. They went provided with all sorts of ... to ward off the "eager and nipping" airs likely to be met with on the route. Everybody will join in wishing them a lucky trip.

... MEASURES AT ALBANY.—Mr. Thatcher informs us that he was waited upon the other day and requested to stop the stages outside of the town of Albany on account of the arrival by them, of persons infected with small pox. A health officer was appointed, whose duty it is to examine arrivals by stage or steamer and to prevent the entrance into town of any person who may be found so affected.

LECTURE.—According to the arrangement made last week, the lecture at Philharmonic Hall was postponed. Mr. Wythe will deliver his lecture this evening on the subject of "Labor" at Philharmonic Hall for the benefit of the Portland Library Association. All those interested in the success of that institution should attend.

PORTLAND FERRY.—The Portland ferry boat, without which Portland would scarcely be Portland, is now run by Mr. S. S. Douglass, who has leased it for a term, beginning January 1st. Mr Douglass has been for a long time employed upon the boat and is not only well experienced but eminently trustworthy.

... CHINA.—The Chinamen of this city are collecting old horse shoes and bits of waste iron to send to China. They have a pile of several hundred horse shoes on Second street. The economy of the thing is in striking contrast with our careless waste of the same metal.

DISSOLVING VIEWS.—There will be an exhibition of dissolving views at the basement of the M. E. Church on Thursday and Friday evening to commence each evening at seven o clock. The proceeds are to be devoted to the benefit of the M. E. Sabbath School.

... of Dissolving Views, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the benefit of the Sabbath School. On account of the Festival at the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, the Exhibition will be postponed to Thursday and Friday evenings, at 7½ o'clock.

... ACROSS THE CONTINENT.—A letter received in this city from Mr. S. G. Reed states that he went overland from San Francisco to Boston in fourteen days—probably the quickest time ever made by a traveler from ocean to ocean in the same latitude.

NEW LIVERY.—Messrs. Goodenough & Clark will commence the erection of a mammoth livery stable on First street, between Stark and Washington, to be two hundred and fifty by two hundred feet on the ground.

RETIRED.—Mr. Thos. H. Long, late one of the proprietors and editors of the Victoria Colonist, has retired from his connection with that paper and turned to a more remunerative and congenial business.

YESTERDAY'S PAPER we spoke of the Ajax having sailed from Astoria when we should have said Conclusion. The Ajax sailed from San Francisco on Saturday for Portland and Victoria.

FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Presbyterian Church give notice that they will hold a festival on Wednesday evening, the 20th, in the basement of their Church and cordially invite all to be present.

DISTRICT COURT, DEADY J.—In this court yesterday the case of Lamb et al vs. Davenport was set for next Monday and the court then adjourned till Monday.

POLICE COURT.—Two cases of drunk and disorderly were before the Recorder's Court yesterday and one case of drunk and sleeping on the sidewalk. Each fined $5 and costs.

TAKING BALLAST.—The brig North Star is discharging ballast at the lower end of the city, preparatory to taking on board a cargo of produce for San Francisco.

NOTARY PUBLIC.—Mr. J. C. N. Moreland has recently received a commission from Gov. Woods, as Notary Public for this city and county.

... DITCH COMPANY.—The Courier says the ... part of the stock of this company has been subscribed.

MARKET SQUARE.—Workmen are engaged in grading the high portion of Market Square to the street grade.

... of Cincinnati have dedicated in their ... a granite shaft to the memory of those ... who died for our country in the war.

STATE ITEMS.

A house has been rented and fitted up at Eugene City for a small pox hospital.

Meetings continue nightly in the M E Church at Albany with good results.

A Salt Lake correspondent of the Eugene says that the ... girls of Southern Oregon ... and marry young ...

St Mary's Academy at Jacksonville has been discontinued and the pupils sent home for the present. The ... offered their services as nurses for the small pox patients to the city authorities.

A call is made for the Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society to meet at Salem at one o'clock P M. Wednesday, January 20th, for the transaction of all business that may be deemed necessary ...

The ... publishes "an appeal" which it says is "being circulated through the State and universally signed" requesting Gov. Woods to convene the Legislature as soon as possible. The "appeal" is being circulated only by that paper and nobody appears to be signing it.

Dr Fisher has been appointed Health Officer of the city of Albany and it is made his duty by ordinance to board all vessels that may land at the wharf immediately upon their arrival and ascertain if any cases of small pox are on such boats. If any such be found on any steamers arriving, such persons so afflicted are to be removed by the Health Officer to the pest house provided by the city.

The Albany Democrat has the following which a good many of Judge Thornton's friends can appreciate: We have received a letter from our friend Judge Thornton but thus far we have been unable to decipher it. All that we can make out is that he was at New York when he wrote, and that he intended to start home on the next steamer. His chirography is a cross of Virginia worm fence and pismire tracks. We have deciphered a great many hieroglyphic manuscripts, but this one from Judge Thornton takes all conceit out of us. We give it up.

There is a man in the Jacksonville jail, charged with stealing a shot gun. The man who "runs the jail, a sort of keeper, is at the present time confined to the jail also, sick with the small pox. The Reveille, in mentioning the case, says it attaches no blame to the jail keeper for preferring his present quarters to those of the pest house, the prisoner it holds equally blameless for preferring any other quarters—the pest house excepted, to those of the jail, deeming it no joke to be imprisoned before guilt is established, especially when locked up with a case of small pox, and offers as an opinion merely that one or the other—the prisoner or the small pox man—should have been removed at once and not allowed to have remained together a day.

Working for the Same Object.

Those who would repudiate the national debt, though meeting with little favor at the North, have no trouble in finding followers and supporters among the ex rebels of the South. On the subject of The Federal Debt we find the following in the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer of the 12th of December. It will meet the approval of the two Democratic organs of this city, as they are working for the same object as the Richmond paper:

There is hardly a reflecting man North or South, who has not long since seen that the repudiation of the Federal Debt is a future certainty. It may not be done by a direct refusal to pay, but in some way or other the Federal Government is going to get rid of paying a large part, if not the whole, of its obligations.

To argue the question, as regards the action of the South, whenever restored to a share of Federal influence, is utterly idle. As soon as the naked question is presented to the representatives of this section whether elected by the negroes or by the whites, whether the Federal debt shall be paid out of the taxes upon labor and enterprise, the almost unanimous response will be in the negative. However parties in the South may differ as to local politics and the enfranchisement of the negroes, nothing is more certain than that all classes desire to get rid of this huge burden without paying it. Let the future show.

We have not undertaken to argue the matter as one admitting the ratiocinations of the moralist. Perhaps repudiation is indefensible upon the field of social or even political ethics. Yet it may be assumed, as a foregone conclusion, that whether right or wrong, the Federal debt is going to be repudiated by the people of the Federal Union. It may, however, be remarked in this connection that there are plenty of reasons why the well known instinct of honesty among the southern white-people does not revolt at the idea of Federal repudiation. They had nothing to do with creating the Federal debt. It was incurred not only not on the faith of their responsibility, but in spite of their hostility to its creation, and they vainly endeavored to make good their hostility by force of arms. It is not only a burden upon the resources of the South, but a badge of her subjugation. The South, as a section, has no shadow of moral obligation to pay any part of it, and nothing but the power of the sword will ever make her do it.

But we need not pursue this subject farther at this time. Events are fast developing the fate which we have predicted for the debt, and when repudiation does come, as come it surely will, it will not be a painful reflection to the South that one object, at least, of those who have been grinding her down for the last three weary years will fail to be attained at last.

NAPOLEON'S LEGITIMACY.—The French have a new sensation (on dit at Paris and Brussels, that Louis Napoleon is not the genuine Louis Napoleon. The story is that the true Louis Napoleon was killed by a prison guard while attempting to escape from the Castle of Ham, where he was imprisoned in 1840 by Louis Phillipe, for a mad attempt to usurp his throne, and that said prison guard escaped to England, where he passed himself off as the true prince, and is now the Emperor of the French. This story will hardly hold water, we should think, but wilder stories than this have been the causes of great political convulsions. This artful undermining of French faith in the Napoleonic legitimacy of the present Emperor might prove the last straw on the back of the very excitable French camel, which if not calculated to break its back, might at least induce it to throw off the imperial incubus that is weighing it down.

In such an event Prince Napoleon would doubtless arise to the top of the political ferment. "Plon Plon" as he is familiarly called, is unmistakably Napoleonic. His likeness to the exile of St Helena is said to be absolutely startling whereas Louis Napoleon has not a trait of his "uncle's" features, nor yet of the Beauharnais type, whence his reported mother was descended.

SMALL POX.—From extended and close observation the following general deductions seem to be warranted:

1 Infantile vaccination is an almost perfect safeguard, until the fourteenth year.

2 At the beginning of fourteen, the system gradually loses its capability of resistance, until about twenty one, when many persons become almost as liable to small pox as if they had not been vaccinated.

3 This liability remains in full force until about forty-two, when the susceptibility begins to decline and continues for seven years to grow less and less, becoming extinct at about fifty, the period of life when the general resolution of the body begins to take place during which the system yields to decay, or takes a new lease of life, for two or or three terms of seven years each.

4 The great practical use to be made of these statements is: Let every youth be revaccinated on entering fourteen. Let several attempts be made, so as to be certain of safety.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The importance of the overland travel across the plains is shown by the progress of fifteen years upon a base line of only three degrees of latitude—from Kansas City on 39 degrees to Omaha within 42 degrees. An aggregate population of 120,000 has accumulated in the following proportions: Omaha, 30 000; St Joseph 30 000; Atchinson 10 000; Leavenworth, 30 000; Kansas City 20 000. The last named three are about twenty five miles distant from each other. All are prosperous. Each in addition to the immediate support of a fertile vicinage, communicates directly with centers of population and activity in the New West of the Rocky Mountains.

MESSRS. CORBITT & MACLEAY,
BEG TO RETURN THEIR SINCERE THANKS TO the Merchants of the State of Oregon and the Territories of Washington, Idaho and Montana for the very liberal patronage and confidence bestowed upon them since their arrival in Portland. Having on the 1st of January

Commodious Buildings, Cor. Front and Pine Streets,
(extending through to First street), they would assure their friends and patrons that they will leave nothing undone to perpetuate the confidence already bestowed.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fact but deceives Nobody after a trial but only adds to the best qualities of ... consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless I ... they should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice.

CELEBRATED
SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON
I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE citizens of Oregon to my celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS, a medicinal Diet Drink of eminently salutary qualities manufactured by myself exclusively at my factory at Schiedam in Holland.
In Gravel, Gout and Rheumatism, in Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys its efforts are prompt, decided and invariably certain.
It is now some twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received ... letters from physicians, ... the purest liquors they have ever used in their practice.
It is made from barley of the finest quality selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.
As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effects produced on the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons are peculiarly liable—the

SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS
Will be found absolutely infallible while in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended to all by physicians by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.
It is put up in quart and pint bottles in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.
Are you WEAK, DEBILITATED NERVOUS? Is your sleep disturbed? Do you have palpitation of the heart or an inclination to melancholy? Diseases of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC which will be found in Wolfe s Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.
Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is sold by all Grocers and Apothecaries
Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is recommended by all the Medical Faculty
Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing

Joe Storms in the Indiana Legislature

From the New Albany Commercial

Dr Bland in his North western Farmer published at Indianapolis frequently gets off a good thing and not his poorest specimen in this line is the following which recites how Joe Storms of Greene county got his resolution through the Indiana Legislature in the early days of our State's history, when that honorable body held its sessions at Corydon. Thus did Joe manage it

Among the members that composed the first Legislative body that ever met after the admission of Indiana as a State in the Union in 1816 none attracted more general attention or was the more energetic in the performance of duty than the Hon Joseph Storms Representative from Greene county Joe as he was usually called came to the Territory of Indiana at an early day, settled on the banks of the beautiful White river and by his industry and practical common sense no less than his courage and determined purpose, he had won from the wilderness a comfortable backwoods home, and from his neighbors that respect and confidence which his peculiarities were calculated to inspire in their class and when a member was to be sent to the Legislature Joe was almost universally conceded to be the man for the place I should add that Joe was at home almost anywhere, anyplace, and a leader at all times and under all circumstances whether at log rolling or husking bee, or at the usual pastime on public days, which consisted mainly in drinking whisky and smashing noses On his arrival at the capital Joe took his seat quietly in the Lower House (the Senate chamber was up stairs,) and for several days said nothing but kept a sharp lookout on all that transpired In about a week, thinking that he had learned the ropes, the gentleman from Greene arose in his place and asked permission to introduce a resolution, it being granted, the same was sent up and read by the clerk, on which a member on the opposite side of the hall arose to oppose it, making some remarks in the course of his speech not very complimentary to the author of the resolution Joe was not prepared for this and what legitimate course to take as a legislator he was at a loss to determine Finally after listening some time he could stand it no longer, springing to his feet, he stripped his coat off and with a decidedly pugilistic manner started for the member who had the floor, remarking at the same time to the presiding officer

"Mr Speaker, with your permission, I'll lam that fellow there!"

Suffice it to say, the permission was not granted, but the gentleman at once very politely waived his objections to the resolution, and it went through with a rush

Money vs. Life—From merchant at Albany to delinquent at Roseburg

Albany, Jan, 8th, 1869

Mr. McC, Sir—I shall be under the necessity of enforcing payment by law, if my claims against you are not satisfied immediately Yours, &c , C——

Roseburg, Jan. 14th, 1869.

Mr. C — Dear Sir—Enclosed I send the amount of my indebtedness to you, $50 in greenbacks at 75 cents Yours &c McC

P. S I should have sent it sooner, but am just recovering from a severe case of the small pox. McC

Merchant, horrified, drops the letter, and exclaims to his astonished clerk, "[illegible] stick that d[illegible] letter and greenbacks in the stove D[illegible] the fool, I wish I hadn't written to him Confound it! I can't go home now, I have been 'exposed!'"

Next day a letter is received from Roseburg from Mr McC , stating that he had not had the small pox, and hoped he never would, it was only a joke. "[illegible], did you burn them greenbacks as I told you?" "Yes, sir." "Curse the luck!"—Albany Register

A Mississippi editor having given notice that he would inform, free of charge, enterprising young men how to make a fortune without capital, replies to several anxious inquirers —"Every one of you pull off your coats, leave off your army airs, quit whisky, go to work, make a crop of corn cotton peas and potatoes; house them up, then marry an enterprisen' girl."

SAIL UNDER FALSE COLORS!!

The best evidence of the value of an article may be found in the fact of its having numerous imitators. Every fine poem has its parodies every meritorious literary work is subject to plagiarisms every successful play has been burlesqued every honest man has his detractors every genuine dollar has been counterfeited; and every valuable medical preparation has its vile imitations. The proprietors of

have encountered the usual experience in this respect Such has been the success of this sterling preparation, that all inferior articles of the kind have virtually been driven from the market The concoctors of these beverages finding that this new Tonic has exactly met the public want, and that no further demand exists for inferior preparations have resorted to the dishonest expedient of imitating either the name or the style of label both of which have been duly secured by the laws of the State to the proprietors of the I X L Bitters

In justice to ourselves as well as to the public who may be deceived by these nefarious practices we hereby notify all parties guilty of infringement on our rights as well as those who have been buying up our old bottles in order to palm off their own nostrums as the genuine article that they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law

For the further protection of consumers we would state that we never sell our Bitters in bulk but always by the case [illegible] Trade Mark every bottle [illegible] article otherwise than direct from us [illegible] Dr Henley's Wild Grape Root I X L Bitters," and don't allow yourself to be imposed upon with an inferior article

OF THE
Weekly Oregonian.
FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest It is the oldest paper in the State and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to every thing of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,
AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF
Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana

TELEGRAMS FROM

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods Hardware and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The Weekly Oregonian has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates

Subscribers will find on each paper with their name the date on which their subscriptions expire as entered on our books In renewing the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK in presence of Postmaster or pay to the nearest authorized agent

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the Oregonian in every direction
